

Bram holds a Master of Science and PhD degree in micro-electronics from the Catholic University of Leuven, Belgium. He founded ICsense in 2004 as a spin-off of the University of Leuven. He is CEO since 2004 and helped growing the company from 4 to over 65 people in 13 years. At ICsense, he is responsible for sales for semiconductor customers, more particularly for the aerospace market.