The reconfiguration module AURUM

One main topic in today's technology focuses on the integration of functional blocks into one component. In the frame of this study a reconfiguration module has been developed with respect to the SAVOIR specification, into a FPGA that fulfills a large number of standards OBC functions. This presentation will describes in detailed the reconfiguration module and all the features it embeds.