Presentation of the Reference Architecture
consolidation activity (ASRA)

T. Hult
RUAG

SAVOIR is supported by an on-going industrial activity where supplier and system integrators work together to refine the Avionics Reference Architecture and propose reference specification for two selected building blocks: the central platform computer (CDMU) and the data concentrator (RTU: remote terminal unit). The presentation will focus on the reference architecture and will give hints about the reference specification.